HUNT BEGUN FOR MISSING SURGEON

Colonel Grover Mysteriously Disappears From Dayton Military Home—Not Seen Since Tuesday—Statewide Search for Officer Is Instituted

DAYTON — (Associated Press) — A statewide search was instituted today for Lieutenant Colonel C. P. Grover, chief surgeon of the Dayton Military Home and commander of the Dayton American Legion post, who has been mysteriously missing since Tuesday.

Military Home officials say that Colonel Grover has been under a severe nervous strain and ill health for several months.

They fear that he may have become temporarily deranged and wandered away.

Upon leaving home Colonel Grover told his wife that he was going down town for a Turkish bath.

That was the last trace of him.

Colonel Grover is regarded as one of the leading surgeons in the Military Home service, successfully performing operations that have been seemingly hopeless.

Program which will be given both in the afternoon at 3:00 and in the evening at 7:30 are as follows:

Mixed chorus, 50 to 60 voices, 65 points, prize $25; boys' glee club, 20 to 30 voices, 40 points, prize $12; girls' glee club, 20 to 30 voices, 40 points, prize $12; mixed quartet, 20 points, prize $5; boys' trio, 16 points, prize $4; girls' trio, 16 points, prize $4; soprano solo, 8 points, prize $2; alto solo, 8 points, prize $2; tenor solo, 8 points, prize $2; baritone solo, 8 points, prize $2.

LIMA HAS CHANCE

Singers from South and Central have an excellent chance to win a majority of the prizes. Those entered in the solo, trio and quartet numbers from Lima are soprano solo, Frances Marley, Central, and Cora Barnhart, South; tenor solo, Robert Jones, Central, and Virgil Baker, South; alto solo, Bernice Rosenbaum, Central, and Mary Dudley, South; baritone solo, Kent Bowsher, Central, and Harry Brown, South; girls' trio, Ruth Pratt, Olive Mayer and Sybil Evans, Central, and Helen Nelsander, Esther Ridderour and Wilma Thominson, South; boys' trio, Norman Stillin, Elmer Welty and Jerome Blattner, Central, and Virgil Baker, Harry Brown and Mark Lutman, South; mixed quartet, Ruby Gunther, Bernice Rosenbaum, Robert Jones and Kent Bowsher, Central, and Katherine Cheney, Mary Dudley, Emory Master and Mark Lutman, South. Prof. Mark Evans, Miss Violet Lewis and Miss Leona Smith have charge of the local singers.

NEW CHARGES MADE

NEW YORK — A letter sent to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon that under Attorney General Daugherty breweries were permitted to make real beer, was made public today by Orville S. Poland, counsel for the Anti-Saloon League of New York. Poland's letter requested Mellon to obtain a ruling from Attorney General Stone on the seizure of brewerries.

Information has been received to the effect that under an unofficial ruling by former Attorney General Daugherty, law violating breweries were deemed to be wholly within the jurisdiction of the department of justice," the letter declared. "The prohibition officers stated they were powerless under the ruling to seize a brewery operating on a commercial scale; they were informed that any action contemplated seizure on their part would be deemed a breach of comity by the department of justice."

ARREST ATTEMPTED

Burt Manderbaugh, member of the police vice squad, and Floyd Streitberger, police detective, told yesterday of having attempted to arrest James Glazier on a gambling charge. They said Glazier told them he was "supposed to run" and that he asked to be taken to Safety Director E. E. Curtis' home about 2 o'clock in the morning. Taken there, Streitberger said, the safety director asked him if he would be all right to let Glazier go. He said Glazier was released, but ceased operation. Questioned by Governor Donahay, Streitberger said he did not feel that he had the honest support of the safety director.

George Beresford, a former policeman, told of having arrested Nick Magris on a gambling charge, but dropped the case after learning that he would be tried if he pressed it. He said he did drop the case on advice of his counsel after learning that the safety director was going to file charges against him. He was suspended soon after and resigned.

On another occasion he said that a gambling house proprietor told him not to come in because there was money on the table. Telling the story to the chief, Beresford said the chief told him to wait till he talked to the safety director about the matter. Before anything was done, Beresford said he was transferred to another beat.

Frank Evans, deputy state prohibition commissioner, said he had found the city of Canton to be the worst for liquor law violation of any city he had visited since prohibition became effective. He declared laws were not enforced.

TWO MEN COMMIT SUICIDE AT DAYTON

DAYTON—Two men were dead by their own hands here today. One used a razor to end his life and the other a revolver.

While Coronor E. E. Kimmel was investigating the suicide of Howard Hopkins, 64, who was found dead in the bath tub in his home Wednesday evening, his neck slashed by a razor, he learned of the discovery of the body of Steven Horvath, 39, in the front room of his home, a bullet wound in the right temple and a revolver by his side this morning.

The body of Horvath lay on the floor of the room where it was found by his wife. No cause was assigned for the death.

FORMER DRY RAIDER INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

CLEVELAND—George Jones, 23, a former dry raider for Justice of the Peace Bartell of Brooklyn, was indicted today by the county grand jury for perjury growing out of his alleged confession that he "framed" to effect the arrest of a private householder for violating the liquor law. Jones' indictment made the eighth former justice of the peace dry raider to be indicted by the grand jury. In the seven other cases the men either have pleaded guilty or were found guilty by common pleas court juries of perjury, blackmail or bribery. Two of them are now in the state penitentiary.

Intended Victim Away, Caretaker is Shot to Death

CHICAGO—(Associated Press) — Miss Wanda Stora, formerly of Detroit, accompanied by a man, invaded the country home of V. K. Smith, an advertising man, today, shot and killed Henry Manning, caretaker, and fired two shots at Smith's wife.

"I am going downtown and kill him too," Miss Stora was alleged to have screamed as she and her companion fled in an automobile.

The police rushed a detail to the office of John H. Dunham and Co., where Smith is employed, and took him to the state attorney's office and left a guard.

Smith explained that Miss Stora, with whom he said he formerly had been friendly, according to the state's attorney, had demanded that he divorced his wife and marry her.

THREATS MADE

Smith said he had met Miss Stora when she was employed in the office of the United States district attorney here. She had returned to Detroit some time ago, he said, and had expressed the belief that she came back to Chicago determined to kill both him and his wife. She once before had made threats against him, he said.

Miss Stora and her companion, whose name was said by County highway police to be Ted Glasgow, failed to appear at the Dunham office and they are being sought.

NOTES MISSING IN DAUGHERTY CASE

Disappearance of Papers Reported to Probers

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — Gaston E. Means, former investigator for the department of justice and star witness before the senate Daugherty investigation reported to the committee members to-day that his extensive collection of diaries and documents put in evidence had disappeared.

An investigation was ordered to determine the whereabouts of the missing papers.

Means told the committee a man wearing the badge of sergeant-at-arms of the senate obtained possession of the documents, or a part of them, yesterday at Means' home in Washington.

EARLY ELECTION REPORTS REQUIRED BY THAD BROWN

Total for the first 10 precincts to report in Allen-co must be telephoned immediately to Thad H. Brown, secretary of state, according to instructions received by the board of elections Thursday.

Reports of the total vote at 9 p. m. 10 and 11 p. m. must also be made with a report of the complete unofficial vote as soon as tabulated.

Secretary Brown inaugurated the system last fall at request of newspapermen who represented to him that Ohio in the past has been one of the last states to report on the complete state results.

DIES OF INJURIES

RAVENNA — Police are seeking to learn the identity of a man found on a railroad crossing in a serious condition last night. The man died shortly after being taken to a hospital. It was believed he had been struck by a train. He was about 40 years old and had a star tattooed on his left hand.

COMMISSIONER TESTIFIES BEFORE WHEELER PROBERS

WASHINGTON — Further direct testimony bearing on the activities here of Senator Wheeler of Montana in connection with land cases was heard today by the special Senate committee investigating the senator's indictment on a charge of receiving money for appearing before the interior department in such cases.

Commissioner Spy of the department's general land office, testified that Wheeler came to his office on one occasion, but told him he only was interested in seeing that Gordon Campbell, his client in litigation in the Montana courts, "got a square deal" from the federal government in regard to his land interests.

PROBE ORDERED

COLI MBUS — Governor Donald today ordered an investigation by special prosecutor into the affairs of the Municipal Savings and Loan Co., the Representative Realty Co., and subsidiary organizations. Grand Jury Investigations Possible, Lippincott Admits

JUDGE HAMILTON MAY ACT

Roy Bowersock County Detective, Relates Rumors Heard

No formal court charges had been filed Thursday in connection with an alleged attempt to bribe C. C. Stroup, state prohibition officer, inquiry at Lima courts disclosed.

Developments in the case, it was indicated Thursday, may be:

A thorough investigation by H. F. MacDonald, state prohibition commissioner, and by officials of the Anti-Saloon League of Ohio, of the charges made by Inspector Stroup.

Probable action by the grand jury. This was admitted as a possibility by Eugene T. Lippincott, prosecuting attorney.

Action by Probate Judge J. H. Hamilton to definitely establish just who was back of the alleged attempt to recover the car.

STROUP AWAY

Inspector Stroup, who hurled the charges Wednesday, has left the city, it was learned Thursday. Prior to leaving he made a sworn statement before John T. Cother, clerk of courts. The statement was similar to that made previously.

Roy O. Bowersock, county detective, whose name was brought into the case by Stroup and Roy Simpkins, state hospital clerk, asserted Thursday that no one had suggested that he see Judge Hamilton and that he would have had nothing to do with it if they had.

Bowersock declared that Saturday in a conversation with Walter Ridenour, counsel for Arnold Reno, he was told some arrangement had been made with Stroup.

Ridenour is alleged to have told him $250 was the amount agreed upon. Bowersock said he told Ridenour to go ahead as

LIFE OF HUNGARY IN BALANCE

League of Nations Takes Charge of Political Affairs

RECONSTRUCTION IS PLAN

Commissioner General Supervises Execution of Program

GENEVA — (Associated Press) — Because of the complicated political problems involved, the completion of the League of Nations plan for the reconstruction of Hungary has given the greatest satisfaction in league circles. It is regarded as the hardest task the league has tackled.

As definitely launched the plan is very similar to that applied in Austria. Thus, according to all reports, is working satisfactorily toward the financial rehabilitation of that country.

The Hungarian protocols are two in number. The first is of a political nature. It is signed by seven powers, Great Britain, France, Italy, Rumania, the Serb-Croat-Slovene State, Czechoslovakia, and Hungary. The governments of the first six states declare that they will respect the political independence, territorial integrity and sovereignty of Hungary, and that they will not seek any special economic or financial advantages that might compromise that independence.

The Hungarian government, on the other hand, undertakes to fulfill the obligations contained in the Treaty of Trianon, in particular the military clauses, as well as the other international engagements. It is to be understood that Hungary maintains her freedom in the matter of customs tariffs and commercial or financial agreements provided she shall not grant to any state a special regime calculated to threaten this independence.

All the powers declare that they will abstain from all acts which might be contrary to the economic and financial reconstruction of Hungary or might prejudice the interests of the creditors.

GOVERNMENT LOAN

In the second protocol, which is signed only by the Hungarian government, the latter undertakes to draw up, in collaboration with the delegation of the council, a program of reform and reconstruction which will assure budget equilibrium on a sound and durable basis by June 30, 1926. The government will ask parliament to give it the full powers necessary to carry out that program. The Hungarian government will issue a loan of 250,000,000 gold crowns to cover its deficits during the reconstruction period until the budget is balanced.

As security for the loan a first charge will be made upon the gross revenues from the customs, the sugar tax, the tobacco monopoly, and the net revenue from the salt monopoly.

Hungary accepts the appointment of a commissioner-general to be appointed by the council of the league, who will reside at Budapest. It will be his duty to supervise the execution of the reform program. The yield of the loan and of the mortgaged revenues will be paid into special accounts controlled by the commissioner-general, and his functions will come to an end when the council shall have ascertained that the financial stability of Hungary is assured.

A central bank of issue will be created in collaboration with the delegation of the council. The statutes of the bank will ensure its complete autonomy towards the Hungarian government. The commissioner-general will nominate an adviser to the bank, to be appointed by the Hungarian government.

SMOKESTACK ORDER STIRS WRATH OF OLD CITIZENS

ROTHENBURG, Bavaria — (Associated Press) — Rothenburgers are up in arms because the town council has granted a factory the right to erect a smokestack 200 feet high in the center of this picturesque medieval city which is regarded as Germany's most perfectly preserved ancient town.

Hitherto there has not been a discordant note in this old walled city. It stands just as it was in the days when Tilly entered it during the Thirty Years' War, and is one of the most popular Bavarian centers for tourists.

Rothenburg stands on a high hill and the residents insist that the factory might much better be located in the valley beneath it, where the smoke stack would not break the skyline of picturesque roofs and sombre towers.

ST. PATRICK'S PORTRAIT ADORNS PARLIAMENT HALL

LONDON — The last of the four mosaic panels which adorn the central hall of the Houses of Parliament, representing the four kingdoms, England, Scotland and Wales, has been completed.

The panel portrays St. Patrick for Ireland and is the work of R. A.ning Bell R. A. The unveiling took place on St. Patrick's Day and was attended by the Irish members of both Houses.

Four great arched panels were set aside for the purpose when the building was erected, and the intention of the architect that the work of filling them in should be done by posterity has taken just 100 years to be realized.

The first panel which represents St. George for England was completed in 1870. St. David for Wales in 1898, and St. Andrew for Scotland last year.

5,445 LEOPERS
MANILA — The annual report of the chief of the Culion leper colony shows an increase of 213 inmates in the colony during the year 1923. On December 31, 1923 there was a total of 5,445 lepers confined in the colony, distributed as follows: Men, 2,697; women, 1,610; boys 802 and girls, 606.

"ALIENS WANT U. S. MONEY"

Senator Bitterly Assails Coolidge in Columbus Speech

COLUMBUS — (Associated Press) Bitterly assailing the administration of President Coolidge in its handling of foreign affairs, Senator Hiram Johnson, California, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, last night paid tribute to the United States senate for handling the Japanese immigration question in "a purely American way."

"These countries overseas want only two things from America," Johnson said. "The first is our money, and the second is our men."

Taking issue with President Coolidge on the world court, the California senator charged that the court was only an "easy entrance" into the League of Nations which the American people repudiated so thoroughly in the last general elections.

The address last night was the third of a series of six in the state. Senator Johnson speaks tonight at Akron, Friday night at Toledo and closes his Ohio campaign at Cleveland Saturday night.

Senator David Ignatius Walsh of Massachusetts is a jovial individual. But he seemed to be in an unusually merry mood when the photographer caught him coming out of the Senate office building. The Massachusetts senator isn't to be confused with Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Teapot Dome investigation fame. About the only things they have in common are their last names and the fact both are Democrats.

DOUBLE-FACED
Number Price

Dinorah—Sei vendicata anni
(Thou Art Avenged) (Meyerbeer) In Italian
Benvenuto Cellini—De l'Art splendide immortelle
(Universal Splendor of Art) (Dudu) In French

6443 $2.00

The finished art of de Luca is again exemplified in these two numbers of highly dramatic character.

Silver Threads Among the Gold (Reed-Davis)
Love's Old Sweet Song (Bingham-Melody)

998 1.50

Those who have never heard these old favorite melodies sung by a really great voice will be thrilled by the beauty of these interpretations. It is a record of unusual interest.

Melodious Instrumental

Orpheus in Hades—Overture—Part I
(Offenbach)
Orpheus in Hades—Overture—Part II
(Offenbach)

35741 1.25

One of the most brilliant of Offenbach's many overtures. Played by a full symphony orchestra, with all its gorgeousness of color and richness and accuracy of detail. A selection you probably know; a record that will want to own.

Light Vocal Selections

Fallen Leaf (V. Lopez-F. Lopez)
At Eventide (Twain-Groves)

45392 1.00

"Fallen Leaf" is an excellent example of the love-songs built musically on themes of the American Indian. "At Eventide" is a fine companion song. Both numbers are beautifully sung and recorded.

Lazy (The Brox Sisters)
Cover Me Up With the Sunshine of Virginia (The Brox Sisters)

19298 .75

First Victor Record by the Brox sisters, who have been singing in the Music Box Revue and elsewhere. The songs are big successes, and as usual the Victor presents them by the singers who "created" them for the public.

When Lights are Low (Marcia Freer)
What's To-Do Got to Do With To-Morrow (Peerless Quartet)

19300 .75

The first a waltz song for a lovely contralto voice, the second a swinging fox-trot with ringing vocal harmonies for four men's voices. Exceptionally fine popular numbers and records.

(1) Who Knows (2) The Two Clocks (3) Cuckoo in the Clock (4) Fairies Anna Howard-Laura Littlefield

19272 .75

(1) Playmates (2) Robin's Prophecy (3) Breezes of the Night (4) Dancing Song Anna Howard-Laura Littlefield

Charming selections for two sopranos. Primarily made for educational purposes, but they are music more than pedagogy, and are delightful to listen to for their own sake.

What'll I Do—Waltz (Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra)

19299 .75

"Lazy" Fox Trot (Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra)

The first number will be especially welcomed, as Paul Whiteman has not recorded many waltzes. With "Lazy," a fox trot of the big-hot sort, it makes a record that will become one of your dance favorites.

After the Storm—Fox Trot (The Troubadours)

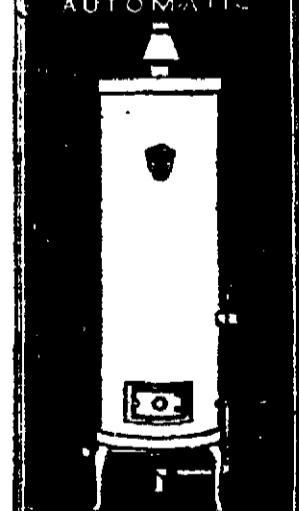

19296 .75

"After the Storm" introduces a real storm with a ninety-mile wind and a vocal refrain with Clifford Cairns as soloist. "Hula Low" introduces Frank Ferera's Hawaiian guitar. Splendid numbers to dance to or just to hear.

CLEANUP IS URGED BY WOMEN

Political Mopping Declared Needed at Buffalo Meeting

DIVORCE LAWS ALSO HIT

Ohioan Among Speakers at National League Convention

BY PEALO — (Associated Press)
Uniform marriage and divorce laws, political cleanups by women, more efficient school teachers, cooperative housing and protection of young Americans abroad were urged by various speakers today at conference connected with the annual national convention of the National League of Women Voters.

An amendment to the federal constitution in order to codify marriage and divorce laws was advocated by Miss Marion Griffin, of Memphis, Tenn., before the Uniform Laws committee. She cited 49 varieties of marriage and divorce laws in the 48 states and the District of Columbia and said they were undermining the American home and family and leading toward final breaking up of the states. In 1910, she said, one marriage in ten was broken by divorce;
in 1923, one in six.

"Reasons for divorce differ more from New Hampshire, with 14 causes for divorce and Oregon and Washington with divorce for any cause the court deems sufficient, to New York with only one cause, and South Carolina with none."

OHIOAN SPEAKS

Mrs. Elizabeth J. Hauser, of Girard, Ohio, told the Education in Government and Politics Conference that she can scarcely fail to note the extraordinary need for housecleaning this spring."

"It will be a great day for this country," she said, "when the women voters conscious of their might, undertake a political cleanup with the same vigor that characterized their housecleaning at home."

The education conference was told by Dr. Fletcher Harper Swift of the College of Education, University of Minnesota, that more than five million children of school age in the United States are not in school "and that hundreds of thousands of those who are might better be chasing rabbits than spending their time under the tutelage of underpaid and insufficient teachers."

Using new methods of financing schools, he said:

"The State must assume whatever responsibility is necessary to guarantee that educational opportunities shall be universal and adequate."

Miss Agnes Warbasse of New York discussed the cooperative movement before the living costs conference.
She said that if one million homes evidently were provided in the United States the people of the country still would not be well off for shelter. She cited Milwaukee and New York City as starting points in the cooperative housing system.
New York alone, she said, had more than 20 genuine cooperative apartment houses for working men's families costing from $6 to $12 per month per room.

Reader Takes Newer Form of Iron—Feels Years Younger

"Six weeks ago I saw a special offer in the paper telling how thousands of people grow old in looks and energy long before they are really old in years, because, as examinations by physicians have shown, an enormous number of people do not have enough iron in their blood. I have been taking Nuxated Iron for two weeks; the results are simply astounding. The roses have come back in my lips and cheeks, and I can conscientiously say that I feel ten years younger."

The above is a typical hypothetical case showing the results that have been achieved by a great many people since we started this "satisfaction or money back" offer on Nuxated Iron. We will make you the same guarantee. If, after taking the two week's treatment of Nuxated Iron, you do not feel and look years younger, we will promptly refund your money at all druggists.

WORLD IS SOLID TO ITS CORE

Earthquakes Due to Earth's Bulk Not Gas-Lava Action

JSOSTACY THEORY TAKEN

Center of Earth Not a Molten Mass Scientist Declares

CHICAGO — (Associated Press) — Isostacy, the theory for the establishment of which Director John Hayford, head of the College of Engineering at Northwestern University, was awarded the Victorian Medal by the Royal Geographic Society of Great Britain, is explained by the director as a force beneath the surface of the earth tending to equalize pressure at all points.

"It adds much to strengthen the evidence that the world is solid through," Hayford said. "In a measure, it also explains earthquakes. On the Japanese coast and the western coast of the United States there are high mountains adjacent to great ocean depths."

"Isostacy demonstrates that earthquakes under such conditions are not due to action of subterranean gases and lava on the earth's crust, but to the deeper movement of the earth's bulk, due to tremendous pressure."

He declared that where gases and fire exist they occupy pockets in the earth's crust, and that the center of the earth is not a molten mass.

ROCKS WEIGHT VARY

Director Hayford's studies of isostacy have been translated and are now being used and referred to by scientists of every nation. Many geologists have accepted his theory.

"Isostacy advances the suggestion," rocks are lighter under the high parts of the American continent than the low parts," he said. "If the theory is true, then there is a hydrostatic pressure in the rocks of the earth everywhere at about 70 miles below sea level. Under the deeps of the Atlantic, rocks are four per cent heavier than under Pike's Peak. Hence the relation of the elevation above sea level on the one hand and the density of the rocks of that section of the globe down to a depth of about 70 miles on the other hand, is such that a column under any square mile of the earth down to 70 miles below sea level weighs nearly the same as any other such a column."

Director Hayford began work on his theory in 1900. Since then he had conducted more than 500 plumb line comparisons. He said that the pull of the earth on a pendulum has been measured in 200 places in the United States, a second proof of isostacy.

CITY SAVINGS PLAN USED IN ALARM BOX PURCHASE

City Purchasing Agent Frank Hume is negotiating with fire alarm manufacturing companies regarding purchasing of six combination fire alarm boxes for the city.

If the telephone system in use here can be installed the city will purchase the boxes without alarm equipment, but if this is not possible the city may be compelled to stand the added expense for the automatic alarm.

Combination boxes are to be installed at the northwest intersections of Main and Elm-sts, Main and Market-sts, Main and High-sts, Main and North-sts, Main and Wayne-sts and Elizabeth and Market-sts.

They are to be equipped with red lights which, flashing constantly give warning in case of fire and are to be placed in such location as to be easily seen by anyone a block away.

PARK IMPROVEMENTS TO BE STARTED NEXT WEEK BY DELPHOS KIWANIS

DELPHOS — Members of the Kiwanis Club park committee are completing arrangements to proceed with the improvement of Waterford Park, preparation for which, along with the completion of some other improvements, has been made during the past two years.

More than $2,000 is on hand to finance the rejuvenation project, as that amount was raised in a drive conducted by the Delphos Business and Professional Business Women's Club several months ago.

According to present plans the planting of many shrubs and trees along with painting of the present buildings and the erection of several new ones, will make up most of the present program. According to those in charge work is to begin the first of next week.

MRS. KOENIG DIES

ST MARYS — (Special) — Mrs. Barbara Koenig, 80, pioneer woman of this district, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Willis Armstrong, following an attack of pneumonia.

DIES OF WOUNDS
ST MARYS — (Special) — James Gibson, 56, Lancaster, father of William and John Gibson of this city, died at his home of gunshot wounds inflicted by two robbers who invaded his home recently. His body will be brought to this city by a passing motorist who happened to be a friend of Koenig's.

Haunhorst's known injuries consist of a broken leg and several cuts and bruises with probable internal injury. He is said to have been riding at a fair rate of speed, at a bend in the road, his machine smashed into Baxter's automobile, which had overturned and obstructed the road. Baxter escaped injury at the sharp turn accident.

DRAMATIC CLUB SCORES SUCCESS WITH COMEDY

DELPHOS — "Mrs. Temple's Telesgram," a three-act comedy which was presented by the St. Johns parish dramatic club Tuesday and Wednesday nights, was a decided success.

John Amos, a local boy, scored a success, and other members of the cast played their parts well. Rev. Bishop and Dr. Fred Maurer were directors. "Somebody Else" in four acts, will be presented in two months by the club.

Rev. F. W. Rohlfing, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, will be the speaker at the Lima Rescue home Sunday afternoon. His subject will be "The Bible as a Book."

THAW RETRIAL IS UNCERTAIN

Evelyn Nesbit Disagrees With Lawyers on Future Action

MILLIONAIRE IN ASYLUM

Flays Doctors' Rabbit Testimony as Malicious Lies

PHILADELPHIA. — (United Press) — There is a reason to believe that the motion for a retrial of Harry K. Thaw's petition to be declared sane and released from "Kirkbride's" never will be filed.

In that event, the millionaire probably will go free at once by court order.

The trustees of the Thaw estate gave notice they will not oppose freedom for Harry and attorneys for Evelyn Nesbit were conferring with the dancer today, as to what she wants to do.

When the jury's verdict in Thaw's favor was made known Tuesday night, William A. Gray representing Russell Thaw, Evelyn's son, gave notice he would file a motion for a new trial. Owing to a disagreement with Evelyn, however, this may not be done.

It was all a lie about the rabbits, Thaw, back in "Kirkbride's" to await court action on a motion for a note signed by Harry, as follows:

During the trial at which the millionaire was found sane, hospital records were read, describing how Thaw mistreated his rabbit pets and played with them in an unusual manner while nude in his bedroom.

Today the United Press received a note signed by Harry, as follows:

THAW'S LETTER
"Here is a small detail that yesterday, if Dr. 'Rabbit' Fuller won, he should have allowed me return with my attendant, Mr. Connolly, as I am certain either Drs. Owen Copp or Bond. But he paraded with two other attendants and that was the limit. Consequently I am sending the enclosed letter to my lawyers and in doing so, I am sending this to you so you can show that that rabbit lie was simple malice as you can see."

"Yours truly,
(Signed) H. K. Thaw."

The enclosed letter, addressed to "Your Honor" began with a request that Thaw be removed to my mother's hotel, as when I was home, in Pittsburgh, or else to another institution."

Apparently what was troubling Thaw was the action of Dr. Fuller in having Harry accompanied by two attendants enroute to "Kirkbride's." "I object to remaining in a building in charge of the doctor who got this hospital record. I might not object as he had finished his false record six years ago, until he showed yesterday he has neither stability nor common sense," Thaw wrote. "Even though his lack of judgment yesterday were less than his lack of judgment for other persons whom are past."

Harry then goes on to explain that his row with Dr. Fuller occurred in 1908 (apparently meaning 1918) on the occasion of a visit to Thaw at the asylum "by the mayor of a New York town." Thaw

NEW IMMIGRATION PLAN PROPOSED

BILL Would Include Families Entrance to Country

CLEVELAND. — (Associated Press) — Wives or husbands and unmarried minor children of resident citizens would be admitted to the United States without being counted in the immigration quota of their country, in the report of the Immigration Committee of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, whose recommendations are to be made at its convention here May 6-8.

Immigration certificates, or consular quota certificates, would be issued at the monthly rate of one-tenth of the annual quota to prospective immigrants who make formal application and who present credentials showing they are admissible, under another recommendation in the report.

The system of selection would permit entrance to those qualified mentally, morally and physically, regardless of race and nationality. The report says the present quota law, after being modified, should be reenacted for a definite term of years. During this time it proposes that a federal board make a study of the effects of the immigration law both in the United States and abroad.

This commission also should have power to devise and supervise a method of selective immigration—administration of law, however, remaining in the immigration service as at present—and to make recommendations to the President for raising or lowering the quota within limits to be fixed by congress," the report reads.

"The committee believes," continued the report, "the present base year of 1910 should be retained during the brief period of quota law's extension both in order that experience during the last three years may be comparable with that during the next three to five years, and in order to avoid raising the troublesome question of discrimination."

BONUS MEASURE PASSES SENATE

Conferees Expected to Smooth Differences Soon

THEN COOLIDGE MUST ACT

Democrats Plan to Renew Cash Option Fight

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — Advocates of the soldier bonus bill centered their attention today on the W. T. to House.

Passage of the insurance measure yesterday by the senate in substantially the same form as approved by the house left only minor differences between the chambers for adjustment in conference and it is expected to be ready soon for President Coolidge's consideration.

No word on the object of bonus legislation has come from the president since his message to congress. He declined against a bonus at that time but it has been predicted in some quarters recently that he might approve the insurance plan. At the same time proponents of the bill have expressed confidence that even if he should disapprove it, sufficient votes were assured in both the house and senate to override a veto.

The bill was passed by the senate yesterday, 67 to 17, and the vote in the house was 375 to 54, much more than the necessary two thirds majority required to pass a measure over a veto. Senate Republican leaders, including Senators Lodge, Massachusetts, the floor leader, Curtis, Kansas, sponsor of the bill; Watson, Indiana, and Willis, Ohio also have declared they would vote to override a veto of the insurance measure.

Altogether the bill providing for cash payments to veterans not entitled to more than $10 in adjusted service compensation and 20 year endowment insurance policies to others, was supported by the American Legion, senior Democrats gave notice yesterday they would renew their fight for full cash payments in the next congress.

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, laid the ground work for such action yesterday with an amendment to the bill postponing until July 1, 1925, the date of issuance of the insurance certificates, altho leaving the cash payments of $50 or less available immediately upon its enactment. The measure had provided for issuance of the certificates on next January 1.

Before any of the insurance certificates would be issued under the amendment agreed to, Senator Walsh predicted a Democratic congress would be in power and an opportunity would be afforded to change the law to include an option of full cash payments.

PROVISIONS OF BILL

WASHINGTON — (United Press) — Here is what the bonus bill, as passed by the senate and house provides:

MOTHERHOOD--THE GREAT ADVENTURE

One Girl, Freed From Prison To Care For Baby Born Out of Wedlock, Finds It Dying—The Other, Accused As "Bobbed-Haired Bandit," Caught Thru Death Of Her Child

(BY ALEXANDER HERMAN)

BROOKLYN, N. Y. — (Special) — An adventure into motherhood has brought one young woman from prison to freedom, and another—from freedom to prison.

Yet the lot of each is pathetically the same.

Before Gussie Humann, 24, whose sentence for perjury in the murder trial of a former sweetheart, has just been commuted, looms a new penalty—ostracism.

And before Celia Cooney, 20, charged with being the "Bob-Haired Bandit" who terrorized New York for months, looms a ten-year sentence in Auburn Prison, away from all she loves.

Her husband, arrested with her, faces an even longer term. And her baby is dead—killed, physicians say, by the excitement of the chase that ended when the police captured the Cooneys in Florida.

GUSSIE HUMANN, FREED FROM PRISON AFTER SERVING TWO YEARS TO CARE FOR HER BABY.

basis of $1 a day for home services and $1.25 a day for overseas service, with maximum basis compensation of $600 and $625 respectively for the two classes of service. The first 60 days of service are not counted in computing basic compensation.

To veterans to whom $50 or less is due, payment is cash.

To veterans due $50 or more, the issuance of 20-year paid-up endowment insurance policies. The face value of the policies is figured by increasing the basic compensation due the veteran by 25 percent, plus compound interest on the figures so obtained at the rate of 11.2 percent for 20 years.

The resulting figure is multiplied by an arbitrary number derived from accepted actuarial principles. For example, the multiplying figure for a veteran 31-years-old—the average age—is 2.317.

The maximum value of a policy obtainable for an overseas veteran of long service is between $1600 and $1800.

Policy holders may borrow up to 90 percent of the value of their policies from banks after three years.

FARM PRODUCTS BILL REPORTED BY COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON — By a vote of 14 to 6 the house agriculture committee today reported the McNary-Haugen agricultural export bill.

The McNary-Haugen measure comes from the committee with numbers of amendments changing the original provisions sponsored by the department of agriculture. As reported, it would provide for it on a corporation with capital of $600,000,000, supplied by the government, to promote the sale abroad of surplus farm products, livestock as well as grain and cotton. Affairs of the corporation would be handled by five directors, one to be the secretary of agriculture and the others to be appointed by the president, who would be required to give representation to all sections of the country.

SUN SHINES AND SKAT HAS SMILE

Can you blame Skat for being happy? Early Thursday morning the sun poked its head out of the clouds and started warming everyone.

It was welcome relief from the cold and the showers. Skat was out in the sun shine most of the day and was freely predicting that it will be fair and warmer. Thursday night he admitted, however, that it might get cloudy Friday and warm Friday night. Warmer weather Friday would also indicate plenty of spring.

ED REEDY, 52, OF ELIDA, DIES AT CITY HOSPITAL

Ed Reedy, 52, of Elida, died early Thursday morning at the City hospital following an operation. He had been ill one week.

Reedy was born in Elida, January 10, 1872, and had spent practically his entire life in that village. He was a butcher.

Surviving are the widow, one son, Ernest, and two daughters, Mrs. Dick Heath and Mrs. Theodore Breneeman, all of Elida.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Sunday at the United Brethren church in Elida. Rev. Jordan will officiate. Interment will be in Greenlawn cemetery.

New Treatment For Varicose Veins and Ulcers

Swollen veins are dangerous and often burst. Sufferers are advised to get a two-ounce original bottle of Emerald Oil (full strength) at Green's Public Drug Store and Hunter's Drug Store and start to reduce the veins and bunches at once. Physicians recommend Emerald Oil, if used in hospital practice and a small bottle will last a long time, because it is very concentrated and a little goes a long way. Apply night and morning with a soft brush as directed until the swelling is reduced to normal.

So marvelously powerful is Emerald Oil that swollen glands and even goiter disappear when used steadily.

1868 SEES FIRST DEM. PARLEY

Horatio Seymour Defeated at New York Convention

GEN. GRANT NOMINATED

Parade, Fireworks Ushered in Five Day Celebration

NEW YORK — (Associated Press) — Delegates and visitors to the Democratic National Convention that meets here in June will find a far different New York than did the men who nominated Horatio Seymour to run against General Grant in 1868.

In the 56 years that have elapsed since the nation's largest city has been the scene of a national convention of a major political party, a new New York has come into existence, a city epitomizing in its phenomenal growth and development the country of which it is the metropolis. The population then was about 850,000. Today, it is over 6,000,000.

New times have brought new issues and new issues new men, but seldom in the nation's history have there been more pressing problems than those facing the statesmen and politicians at the close of the Civil War.

For both the party and for New York 1868 was a momentous year. It marked the re-entry of southern delegates into the party councils after the Civil War. It marked the dedication of Tammany Hall's new $100,000 wigwam on Fourth Street. It marked the rise of the original Ku Klux Klan; with tax reduction and negro suffrage as major issues, and the appearance of Susan B. Anthony with a demand for votes for women.

That year saw Seymour, twice governor of New York state, romp off with the Democratic presidential nomination to run with Gen. Frank Blair of Missouri, vice-presidential nominee, into an overwhelming defeat at the hands of that "stalwart soldier statesman," Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, and his cohorts.

GRANT WINNING

That year also saw William M. ("Boss") Tweed, the Grand Sachem of Tammany Hall, working hand-in-glove with the young lawyer, Samuel J. Tilden, to make the national convention a lavishly colorful success.

Tweed's graft ring was exposed shortly thereafter and Tilden died in a driving to a felon's cell and into a dishonored grave the man who, confronted with his crimes, asked, "What are you going to do about it?"

Judged by the thermometric records, the convention of 1868 was the hottest on record for those held at Kansas City and St. Louis. It lasted five days, with the mercury hovering between 98 and 101 during the whole period. Delegates from the south, coming north for the first time since, before the war, were quoted as saying, "It isn't the heat; it's the humidity gets us."

On a Saturday, a Fourth of July, the convention opened with a great parade which ushered in a continuous series of day and night demonstrations while the party remained in session. The Tammany braves were out in force. Mayor John T. Hoffman was master of ceremonies; Judge Albert Corfiza read the Declaration of Independence in accordance with Tammany ritual; old Trinity Church's chimes played "Yankee Doodle"; the red-shirted, drum-trumpled Volunteer Fire Department made its farewell bow to the public; war veterans marched; bands played, and politicians orated.

At night there were bonfires and torchlight parades down the narrow, cobbled streets of the nation's biggest city, which as yet knew neither gas nor electricity for lighting and had only mule-drawn street cars. The Great White Way, which since has discouraged fireworks and torchbearers, was then quite dark after sundown.

August Belmont, father of the banker of today, called the convention to order. On the fifth day and on the twenty-second ballot after the Horatio Seymour-George Pendleton (Ohio) factions had enforced an adjournment to prevent the nomination of Gen. Winfield S. Hancock of Pennsylvania, and after Seymour had uttered the classic, "Your candidate I cannot be," delegates stamped to Seymour's banner, and the choice was made unanimous.

OPERA HOUSE JANITOR IS SUMMONED BY DEATH

After an illness of five weeks from a complication of diseases, Charles Shindeldecker, 58, died Wednesday at his home, 733 N. Jefferson St. He was employed as janitor at the Opera House-blk.

Shindeldecker was born February 3, 1866 and besides the widow is survived by five sons and three daughters, all residing in this city. They are Earl, Acada, Gloyd, Howard and Theodore Shindeldecker, Mrs. J. E. McPherson, Mrs. A. C. Battles and Hazel Shindeldecker.

Funeral services will be conducted at the United Brethren church at 2 p. m. Friday in charge of Rev. W. H. Howard. Burial will be in Woodlawn cemetery.

2 GROUPS OPPOSE COOLIDGE IDEAS

Isolationists and Pre-League Elements Against President

FOREIGN POLICY FORMULATED

Executive Prepared to Answer Critics, However

By A. L. BRADFORD

WASHINGTON — (United Press) — President Coolidge has struck the note of an American foreign policy that will be generally acceptable to most of the country, even if it offends two large groups of opinion, his advisers believed today.

This policy based on the long list of achievements by Secretary of State Hughes, will neither satisfy the isolationists, nor the pro-league elements of the United States. It is admitted.

However, Mr. Coolidge can answer these main schools of opposition as follows:

To the irreconcilable element, which also is fearful of the American people being called on to foot the bill for Europe, the president can point to the unequivocal language in his New York speech declaring the League of Nations dead so far as the United States is concerned, and to his statement that he expects foreign nations to pay their debts to us.

LAW TO GERMANY

To those calling for complete cooperation between the United States and the rest of the world, President Coolidge can turn to his speech, where he is on record as supporting participation of American finance in the international loan to Germany under the Dawes settlement plan and where he favors the calling of another disarmament conference when the reparations settlement is established.

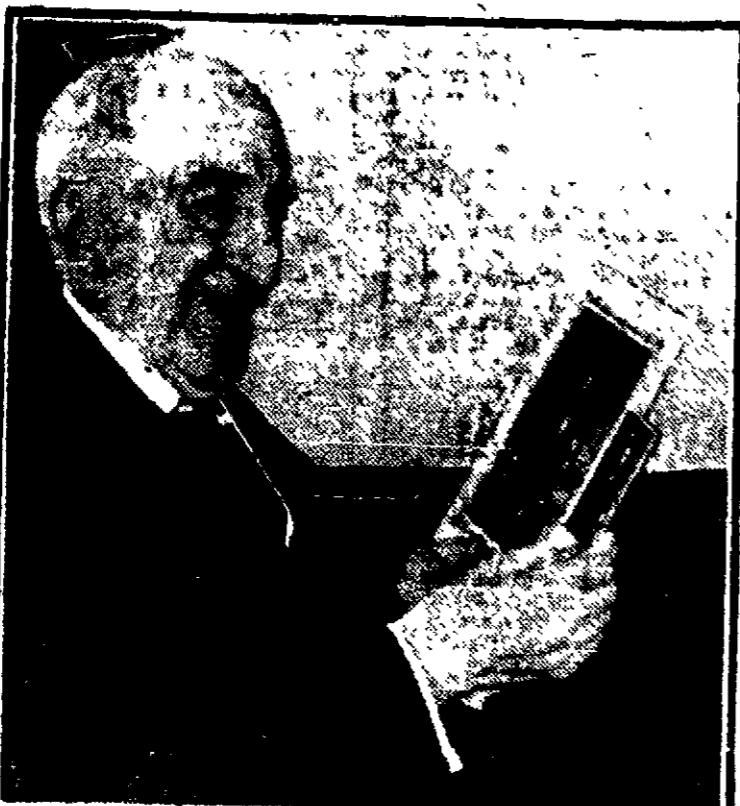

The Coolidge-Hughes foreign policy now is fairly well formulated and it is expected to have a prominent place on the Republican platform. Briefly, it is:

1—Cooperation with Europe when practicable, but avoidance of participation in European politics. Economic and extra-official cooperation being favored to political alignments.

2—As a fundamental basis of this policy, all possible efforts to further world disarmament. The president and Hughes are understood to feel that if another successful disarmament conference can be held, the administration will have done everything possible in the interest of world peace.

The results of this policy are believed likely to serve as the fulfillment of the late President Harding's promise of an "association of nations."

WOMAN WITHOUT COUNTRY ASKS NATIONS' LEAGUE TO STRAIGHTEN HER AFFAIRS

GENEVA—"The man without a 'country,' or in this case a woman, has come before the League to justice up to the league.

Conditions arising from the war probably have placed many persons in this same position, so that they are debarred from all existing legal tribunals.

The legal rights of the league admit there is involved in such cases a denial of justice. The solution appears to be the elaboration of an international convention by which states surrender existing sovereign rights of deciding for themselves the conditions under which their nationality is automatically or may voluntarily be acquired or lost.

The question raised by the German woman whose property in France was sequestered during the war appealed to the World Court at The Hague, stating that France labels her as German, but that Germany refuses to recognize her as a national. The World Court passed the problem of the woman's recourse to justice up to the league.

5 Operations—15 years suffering with constipation—Kellogg's Bran restores health

Mr. Lancing's case is typical of thousands of others. He found permanent relief from constipation in Kellogg's Bran because it is ALL bran. Nothing but ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. Read what he says:

Dear Sir:

I have been afflicted with constipation for the past 15 years, and during that time I have been in four different hospitals and submitted to four different operations that were the result of constipation. I was getting so bad that every meal I ate soured on my stomach. Two months ago I was advised to eat Kellogg's Bran. I tried it, as I was trying everything I could hear of. From that day on I have never taken a physic. My stomach does not sour any more and my bowels move regularly morning and evening. Yours sincerely,

Frank Lancing, Ind.

1906 Jersey Ave., Marion, Ind.

For permanent relief, eat Kellogg's Bran regularly. Two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. It is guaranteed to bring results, or your grocer will return your money.

You will like the delicious nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran—so different from ordinary brans, which are unpalatable. Eat Kellogg's Bran with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in the recipes given on the package.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and crumbled, is served by leading hotels and clubs in individual packages. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Child's Hair With

If you want to keep children's hair in good condition be careful what you wash it with.

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this cannot possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. Two or three teaspoonsful will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves fine and silky, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will last for months.

WARNING VOICED BY DAUGHERTY

Moscow Directing Revolt Move in U. S., He Declares

TREASON TRACED TO SENATE

Tells of "Sacrifice" in Speech at Columbus

COLUMBUS — (Associated Press) Butcher assailing the influence which brought about his retirement from President Coolidge's cabinet and voicing a warning that the very foundation of this government is threatened by present methods of investigation." Harry M. Daugherty told an audience of friends and neighbors here last night that he had given up his cabinet post rather than "contribute to a treasonable cause."

Communism and its alleged influence on the federal government thru certain United States senators was discussed at length, the former attorney general charging that the Communist international at Moscow was directing propaganda in this country to the end of causing revolution.

"There have been too many pilgrimages of late to Moscow and too few to Mt. Vernon, Springfield, Ill., and Canton and Marion, Ohio," he shouted, digressing for a moment from his prepared address. He named Senators Wheeler and Brookhart as having "spent last summer in Russia with their Soviet friends."

DEPARTMENT FILES

Commenting on his refusal to turn over to the Wheeler investigating committee department of justice files, which action precipitated the request by the president for his resignation, Daugherty said:

"I preferred to permit my integrity to be questioned and my honor to hang in the balance, for the time being, rather than surrender the files in the keeping of the department of justice. I gladly gave up a post of honor rather than contribute to a treasonable cause."

Vouchsafing his friendship for President Coolidge, Daugherty said that the president and himself had had an unpleasant experience, they "have had no quarrel."

The former attorney general protested the insincerity of some of the members of the committee which is investigating his official acts, but asserted that he cared "nothing about that now." Having stood my ground in vain effort to develop honest facts before the eyes of the American people, no lasting harm can come from gossip, innuendo, misrepresentation, innuendo, slander, libel, falsehood or treason itself when the public shall have had opportunity to see what has taken place."

Daugherty said that Frank A. Vonderlip, whom he characterized as a man of "peculiar mentality," was saving most of the expense of the Wheeler investigation committee. Vonderlip, he said, had admitted paying much of the committee's expense. He asserted that Vonderlip "now is trying to justify the insane attack upon the honor of a dead president and within the last few days has vented his spleen upon President Coolidge."

WORK OF DEPARTMENT

During his address Daugherty gave a resume of the work that had been done by the department of justice under his direction, asserting that in every branch results obtained had far outstripped those obtained during any similar period since the organization of the department.

Concluding, the former cabinet member declared that "the signs of the time are ominous. We are in the midst of a situation, many of its aspects unprecedented in the history of our country. I sound a warning note to every American tonight. The enemy is at the gate. He aims at nothing short of the overthrow of the

"In the attainment of its purpose, the few men who stand alone to stem the tide of treason, if true Americanism will be struck down amidst the Americans of this country rise above all small considerations and address themselves to the driving out of public life every man who is either a conspirator against American institutions or too weak and cowardly to do a brave man's part in this battle for the fundamentals of our national faith. I am concerned not of myself but of our country."

WHEELER REPLIES TO DAUGHERTY

WASHINGTON — (United Press) "Such unfaithful servants as Daugherty and Fall have made more Bolsheviks in America in a few weeks than a thousand soviet agents could make in a decade." Senator Wheeler, Montana, declared today, in replying to former Attorney General Daugherty's "defense speech" in Columbus last night.

Wheeler's statement to the United Press was provoked by what he termed "Daugherty's cunning but baseless insinuation" that he and Senator Brookhart, Iowa, were "inspired" by soviet officials to investigate the department of justice.

"In his array of distorted truths," said Wheeler, "Daugherty has taken refuge behind the last resort of modern knaves, striving desperately to divert the public mind from their own corruption. When all else fails, they trot out the 'red peril' bugaboo. His pitiful absurd smoke screen will only meet with ridicule."

"But this discredited official does not exaggerate the dangers that threaten the republic if the Daughertys and the Falls are not driven from office. That is the danger the senate committee, by having the committee in the department of justice, is seeking to avert."

"There is a rising tide of discontent in America. Government by black mail and the private sale of the public domain have brought it to the danger point. Nothing at

WORLD RELIGIOUS CONVENTION.

American Workers Prominent on Glasgow Program

GLASGOW — (Associated Press) Religious workers from America will play a prominent role in the ninth quadrennial Sunday School Convention of the World, to be held in Glasgow from June 18 to 26. Each day of the session at least one American is to address the delegates assembled from all over the world.

On the opening day Dr. Marion Lawrence, of Chicago, is to deliver a short address, and Dr. Hugh Magill of Chicago, will deal with "Christian Education, the Hope of Civilization." Among the several speakers booked to discuss various aspects of religious educational work among adolescent youths are Philip E. Howard, of Philadelphia, and Miss Margaret Slattery, of New York.

"The Sunday School and World Prohibition" is the subject of an address to be delivered by the Rev. Clarence True Wilson, D. D., of New York, whose name is followed on the program by that of Dr. W. C. Pearce of New York, who is assigned the subject "Christian Education, a World Task," for his discourse.

Another American speaker who has promised to address the convention is Rev. W. E. Rafferty of Philadelphia.

Of well-known Britons, the program contains many names. Lord Robert Cecil is to speak on "The Sunday School and International Peace." The Boy Scout movement will be reviewed by Lieutenant-General Sir Robert Baden-Powell, while others of high authority in their respective fields of activity will acquaint the convention with the work of the Girls' Guild, the Boys' Life Brigade, foreign missions, relief measures in distressed areas of the earth, and outdoor recreations in connection with religious activities.

Five thousand delegates are expected to attend the convention. The general theme of the week of discussion will be "Jesus Christ for the Healing of the Nations."

BUILD HOMES CRY THRU ENGLAND

500,000 New Houses Needed for Relief of Congestion

QUICK ACTION NEEDED

Slum Districts Are Overcrowded; Crisis Acute

By CLARENCE DU BOSE
LONDON — (United Press) — Wanted, immediately, half a million new houses to relieve the dwelling shortage in England. However, a smaller number would be gratefully accepted if only they could be secured quickly.

That represents one of the most important problems the MacDonald Labor government confronts, and one of the most serious any English government will confront for several years—albeit there is no dearth of problems, all of which are accurately described as serious.

Authorities here say that general social unrest is being increased more rapidly by the housing shortage than by any other single factor. Some far serious ultimate consequences unless this unrest is stilled.

Since the war, England has attempted encouragement of dwelling construction by payments of subsidies to builders. The results have been inadequate—a mere drop in the bucket by comparison with the needs.

SHORTAGE ACUTE

New plans are now being formulated, but admittedly no plan can get quick action, or at least quick enough a nor. The government has no magic wand or Aladdin's lamp whereby several hundred thousand houses can be brought into existence out of thin air overnight. All plans being formulated necessarily contemplate some years for realization. And meanwhile three or four million people, or more, are persistently demanding that the government give them relief—that is, more houses. The government can't—at once. It will probably be some years before any government plan can relieve, to any substantial degree, the housing shortage in England.

Will endurance or discontent win the race? Will the ill-housed masses, while grumbling, carry on until more houses are built, or vent their discontent in violence?

The English housing shortage, in its present acute stage, is a war inheritance. England simply is short all the dwellings that would have been built from 1914 to 1919 if there had been no war—plus the shortage resulting from slowed-down construction during the few years after the war—and, again, plus the shortage caused by houses that become useless or undesirable during the war and post-war years. Estimates of this total shortage vary from 200,000 to almost 1,000,000.

The housing shortage is no worse, according to officials here, in London, Liverpool, Manchester and other large cities than it is in the smaller manufacturing, mining and industrial centers.

The slum districts in the cities are exceedingly congested and overcrowded, but in proportion to total populations, not more so than the poorer quarters in the smaller towns.

With the exception of occasional villages and small towns the housing shortage spreads all over England and the effort of the government will be to get building done everywhere, in both small places and cities.

HISTORY RECALLS CONVENTIONS

DeWitt Clinton Nominated First Presidential Candidate

BALTIMORE CHIEF CITY

Railroad Development Extended Electoral Scope

NEW YORK—(Associated Press)

—New Yorkers who remember their history are recalling that the first convention for the nomination of a presidential candidate was held in this city. It was convened by the old Federalist Party in 1812 and nominated De Witt Clinton, then Lieutenant-Governor of the state, to head the party ticket. Clinton received 89 electoral votes to 219 for James Madison.

Previous to this Federalist convention, unpretentious forerunner of the great gathering of the Democratic party which takes place here in June, the methods of appraising presidential timber were comparatively simple. Indeed, until the election of 1800 there were no nominations.

In 1789 Washington was the choice of the electors provided by the machinery of the new constitution, and "the Father of his country" was again selected in 1792. After John Adams had served his term, however, party divisions began to manifest, and in 1800 the first congressional caucuses for the selection of the chief executive and vice president were held, with the result that Jefferson became president after the House of Representatives had been called upon to break the tie between him and Aaron Burr. The congressional caucus method prevailed in 1804 and 1808, altho there had as yet been no platform and no convention.

BALTIMORE MEETING

However, the Federalist convention of 1812 did not serve to commit the party to that system of making the nominations, and it was not until the election of 1832 that all the presidential candidates were named in this manner.

The Anti-Masonic party, first in the field, met at Baltimore in September, 1833, adjourning until September 26, 1831, on which date the delegates reassembled in the same place. The mechanism is fed through rubber nipples directly to the roots of the hair while the scalp is gently massaged. Van Es Liquid Scalp Massage comes in a patentable little bottle with a rubber applicator attached. The method of application is easy—and clean.

Well?

What about this bribe talk, Mr. Lippincott? You are the prosecutor of Allen-co. A state official charges an attempt was made to bribe him. He mentions a detective employed in your office, altho not in connection with the alleged attempted bribe. That is enough to make it imperative that you act at once.

Your statement yesterday appeared to minimize, even to discount the matter. There are two ways of handling such matters—an aggressive investigation or a passive belittling of them.

We have a grand jury for the former course. It meets soon. The public will be watching developments in connection with the state prohibition agent's serious charges.

A Tip

In connection with the charges of bribery, Sheriff Crosson admits that a departing prisoner gave him $5 to buy presents for prisoners in the county jail. This was commendable on the part of the prisoner who was going out to freedom, but we would consider it poor business on the part of the sheriff. Such gifts might be misconstrued by the public when talk about them begins. Mr. Crosson should remember this.

Peace

President Coolidge in his address at New York this week showed by his statements concerning world peace plans that even the staid, old reactionary wing of the G. O. P. still realizes that something along this line must come soon. They may never accept the League of Nations; the country may never accept it as it stands, but the men who defeated this plan undoubtedly will live to see a world peace plan worked out and put into use by all civilized nations. The Republican party may be charged with delaying an actual start along this line. It is to be hoped that their political maneuvering which delayed a safeguard of some sort will not be instrumental in costing the lives of thousands of our young men in another war.

Costly

A modern debutante, traveling in the highest eastern society, cannot dress "properly" on less than $35,000 a year. This is the estimate in the exclusive circles of New York.

Why waste time foaming at the mouth because a young woman with foolishly futile ambitions "wastes" so much on clothes? The money is not wasted, by any means. Most of it goes for labor and profits to garment makers. So it travels, back into circulation among the plain people. Far better than remaining frozen in bank accounts and securities. As long as they have the money, prodigal spending by the rich should please people on the "outside looking in."

Guards

A doctor, discussing the 40,000 Red Cross nurses in America, says: "They hold the front line trenches against disease."

Nurses and physicians are the real "standing army." They guard the public against a danger far more formidable than military invasion. Bacteria, plant life cousins of toadstools, are our greatest enemies. We are so busy killing each other when we're not recuperating for another fight, and so engrossed in legitimate stealing (trying to get something for nothing or for less than we offer in exchange) that we have little time for the greatest enemy, disease. Proving that we're still in the savage state.

O O O

Indications are there will be a big apple crop this year. If nothing happens there won't be enough jugs and bottles to hold it.

G. O. P. BALLYHOO

Texas Congressman Ridicules It

(BY HARRY B. HUNT)

A forecast of Democratic campaign pronouncements is given by the Hon. Marvin Jones of Texas in a speech he has had published, entitled "The Republican Street Parade and the G. O. P. Circus."

"During my boyhood days," says Jones, "I loved the circus. I would do anything from driving tent stakes to carrying water for the elephants to get admission.

"But in spite of the rare old circus days, what is beyond question the greatest of all displays; greater than Hagenback, greater than Barnum, greater than Ringling—greater than all combined—is the Republican street parade and the G. O. P. circus of 1924."

"Nothing like it ever was seen before in the history of the world."

Whereupon Jones proceeds to list the various "hams" on which his party will seek to center attention during the campaign.

"Albert B. Fall, the world's greatest 'interior decorator' who does his pictures in oil."

"Harry 'Asbestos' Daugherty so-called because he is so hard to the touch."

And so on through a long list, omitting no prominent Republican and climaxing with "Careful Kal" whom he pictures as the party's tight wire walker and juggler, "upholding the law in one hand and Harry Daugherty in the other."

This type of attack will be used as a foil to offset the serious remonstrations of G. O. P. policies and performances that will be presented by the party's heavy thinkers. It is adopted on the theory that to a large mass of voters ridicule of G. O. P. pretensions will be much more effective than logical and reasoned argument.

The Republican answer will be that such flippancy and tomfoolery is but typical of the Democratic mind, and that any outfit which regards the government as a three-ring circus with which to amuse itself is even less fit to govern than are the Filipinos.

The term "A Texas longhorn" used to be used to describe wild and unsophisticated members of Congress from the southwest, who frequently ran amuck with parliamentary law and the dignity of the House. Those members, however, like the skittish longhorn steers for which they were named, have almost disappeared.

That the days of the longhorns may be long remembered, the Congressman Quinn Williams from Texas will present to the National Museum some of the largest horns ever produced in the Lone Star State. One pair, now on display in his office, measures seven feet six inches from tip to tip.

Managing editors are brave men. They will tackle anything once. Perhaps that's why Olin Kennedy, managing editor of a Miami paper and well known in newspaper circles in Indianapolis, Cleveland and Washington, has volunteered to serve as sergeant-at-arms at the Democratic convention.

Any man who will undertake to keep order in that gathering, when the McAdoo and Underwood clans begin to exchange shots say, will certainly need his nerve with him.

Representative Henry P. Rainey of Carrollton, Ill., makes money at farming. But not from wheat, or from corn and hogs. Rainey's profits as a farmer come from his deer and his goldfish!

FISHIN'

(BY HAL COCHRAN)

The touch of the season is plenty of reason why people should ponder and dream. And everyone's wishin' that they could go fishin' and boat by the side of a stream.

The bamboo is calling, we'll all soon be fallin' our lines will be knotted and strung. Devices everlasting to be out a-casting are slidden when fish lines are flung.

The whiz of a reel makes a fisherman reel that the call of the open and wild is taking him back to the days when the knack of casting was his, as a child.

To sit on a dock or a moss-covered rock and wait for the bobber to beckon is what makes the dream, as you sit by a stream, the real call of nature, I reckon.

Your luck is a chance our bet people will answer the call 'cause they can't help but heed. It's sport just to tinker with hook, line and sinker and that's all you actually need.

THE CARBOHYDRATE GORGE

Carbohydrates, as we all know, stands up to the task. Something besides the mere comfort which a full stomach gives, something more than the feeling of safety, brief though that feeling may be after a carbohydrate gorge. There is an indefinable stimulation, like intoxication and that sensation contributes to the development of the habit. It is the want of that sensation which makes the victim of the habit so miserable when he or she attempts to limit the carbohydrate intake or to fast a few hours. When you find yourself so habituated to the carbohydrate gorge there is always an alternative course for you to follow. Absorb six miles of oxygen on the hoof every day you gorge.

BY GERTRUDE GILLHAM

Never before in the history of cinematic art have local audiences had an opportunity of seeing such a remarkable performance as that which Lon Chaney contributes to "The Hunchback of Notre Dame." Hugo balanced the plot of his novel, he gives you the whole bagful of human emotions and contributes a screen characterization that will live forever.

The recollection of this demoniac, cynical, hideous creature, creeping along the cornices of Notre Dame and circling down its masonry, will haunt you long after you have viewed the film. His makeup is uncanny, and his acting astounding.

Next to Chaney's "Quasimodo," undoubtedly the most striking figure in the film is Ernest Torrence's "Clopin, King of the Underworld."

His impersonation is a master stroke of acting. Patsy Ruth Miller was questioned as a choice for the role of "Esmeralda," but after you see the production, all doubt as to the wisdom of the choice vanishes in thin air.

Norman Kerry makes a handsome and dashing character in part of Capt. Phoebe, who loves fair Esmeralda. Other important roles are handled by Tully Marshall, Ned de Belder, Brandon Hurst, Kate Lester and Gladys Brockwell.

The story takes place during the turbulent days of Louis XI, the ruthless ruler of France. The picture opens exactly as does the book, with the Festival of Fools, and has been produced on a magnificent scale.

"The Hunchback of Notre Dame" played to capacity houses at every performance the opening day and scores of people were turned away at the evening performances. A large orchestra under the direction of Louis Miko furnishes music for the picture.

Sigma—"Temporary Marriage," with Kenneth Harlan; "Letters to the Right," David Hall; "Majestic"—"Double Dealing," with Root Gibson.

Lyric—"Quasimodo," with Lon Chaney.

Never before in the history of cinematographic art have local audiences had an opportunity of seeing such a remarkable performance as that which Lon Chaney contributes to "The Hunchback of Notre Dame."

Now showing at the Lyric. As Quasimodo, the poor twisted dwarf who rings the bells of Notre Dame and serves as a fakir on which Victor Hugo balanced the plot of his novel, he gives you the whole bagful of human emotions and contributes a screen characterization that will live forever.

The recollection of this demoniac, cynical, hideous creature, creeping along the courses of Notre Dame and circling down its masonry, will haunt you long after you have viewed the film. His makeup is uncanny, and his acting astounding.

Next to Chaney's "Quasimodo," undoubtedly the most striking figure in the film is Ernest Torrence's "Cleopatra, King of the Underworld."

His impersonation is a master stroke of acting. Patsey Ruth Miller was questioned as a choice for the role of "Esmeralda," but after you see the production, all doubt as to the wisdom of the choice vanishes in thin air.

Norman Kerr makes a thin air.

handsome and dashing character in the part of Capt. Phoebus, who loves fair Esmeralda.

Other important roles are handled by Tully Marshall, Nigel de Brulier, Brandon Hurst, Kate Lester and Gladys Brockwell.

The story takes place during the turbulent days of Louis XI, the ruthless ruler of France. The picture opens exactly as does the book with the Festival of Fools, and has been produced on a magnificent scale.

ENTERED AT THE LIMA, OHIO, POSTOFFICE AS SECOND CLASS MAIL MATTER

Service of Associated Press, United Press and other Services Received Daily
By Mail, One Year $6. City Carrier, 15 Cents a Week

Well?

What about this bribe talk, Mr. Lippincott? You are the prosecutor of Allen-co. A state official charges an attempt was made to bribe him. He mentions a detective employed in your office, altho not in connection with the alleged attempted bribe. That is enough to make it imperative that you act at once.

Your statement yesterday appeared to minimize, even to discount the matter. There are two ways of handling such matters—an aggressive investigation or a passive belittling of them.

We have a grand jury for the former course. It meets soon. The public will be watching developments in connection with the state prohibition agent's serious charges.

A Tip

In connection with the charges of bribery, Sheriff Crosson admits that a departing prisoner gave him $5 to buy presents for prisoners in the county jail. This was commendable on the part of the prisoner who was going out to freedom, but we would consider it poor business on the part of the sheriff. Such gifts might be misconstrued by the public when talk about them begins. Mr. Crosson should remember this.

Peace

President Coolidge in his address at New York this week showed by his statements concerning world peace plans that even the staid, old reactionary wing of the G. O. P. still realizes that something along this line must come soon. They may never accept the League of Nations; the country may never accept it as it stands, but the men who defeated this plan undoubtedly will live to see a world peace plan worked out and put into use by all civilized nations. The Republican party may be charged with delaying an actual start along this line. It is to be hoped that their political maneuvering which delayed a safeguard of some sort will not be instrumental in costing the lives of thousands of our young men in another war.

Costly

A modern debutante, traveling in the highest eastern society, cannot dress "properly" on less than $35,000 a year. This is the estimate in the exclusive circles of New York.

Why waste time foaming at the mouth because a young woman with foolishly futile ambitions "wastes" so much on clothes? The money is not wasted, by any means. Most of it goes for labor and profits to garment makers. So it travels, back into circulation among the plain people. Far better than remaining frozen in bank accounts and securities. As long as they have the money, prodigal spending by the rich should please people on the "outside looking in."

Guards

A doctor, discussing the 40,000 Red Cross nurses in America, says: "They hold the front line trenches against disease."

Nurses and physicians are the real "standing army." They guard the public against a danger far more formidable than military invasion. Bacteria, plant life cousins of toadstools, are our greatest enemies. We are so busy killing each other when we're not recuperating for another fight, and so engrossed in legitimate stealing (trying to get something for nothing or for less than we offer in exchange) that we have little time for the greatest enemy, disease. Proving that we're still in the savage state.

o o o

Indications are there will be a big apple crop this year. If nothing happens there won't be enough jugs and bottles to hold it.

"Anticipation is the better part of realization," or something like that. Too few people anticipate happiness. They want to wait until it arrives before they try to enjoy it. And when it does arrive they are too busy waiting for some future happiness.

The supply of happiness is inexhaustible, but very little is used.

G. O. P. BALLYHOO

Texas Congressman Ridicules It

(BY HARRY B. HUNT)

A forecast of Democratic campaign pronouncements is given by the Hon. Marvin Jones of Texas in a speech he has had published, entitled "The Republican Street Parade and the G. O. P. Circus." "During my boyhood days," says Jones, "I loved the circus. I would do anything from driving tent stakes to carrying water for the elephants to get admission.

"But in spite of the rare old circus days, what is beyond question the greatest of all displays; greater than Hagenback, greater than Barnum, greater than Ringling—greater than all combined—is the Republican street parade and the G. O. P. circus of 1924.

"Nothing like it ever was seen before in the history of the world."

Whereupon Jones proceeds to list the various "animals" on which his party will seek to center attention during the campaign.

"Albert B. Fall, the world's greatest "interior decorator, who does his pictures in oil.

"Harry 'Asbestos' Daugherty, so-called because he is so hard to fire."

And so on thru a long list, omitting no prominent Republican and climaxing with "Kareful Kai" whom he pictures as the party's tight wire walker and juggler, "upholding the law in one hand and Harry Daugherty in the other."

This type of attack will be used as a foil to offset the serious renunciations of G. O. P. policies and performances that will be presented by the party's heavy thinkers. It is adopted on the theory that to a large mass of voters ridicule of G. O. P. pretensions will be much more effective than logical and reasoned argument.

The Republican answer will be that such flippancy and tomfoolery is typical of the Democratic mind, and that any outfit which regards the government as a three-ring circus with which to amuse itself is even less fit to govern than are the Filipinos.

The term "A Texas longhorn" used to be used to describe wild and unsophisticated members of Congress from the southwest, who frequently ran amuck with parliamentary law and the dignity of the House. Those members, however, like the skittish longhorn steer for which they were named, have almost disappeared.

That the days of the longhorns may be long remembered, the Congressman Quinn Williams from Texas will present to the National Museum some of the largest horns ever produced in the Lone Star state. One pair, now on display in his office, measure seven feet six inches from tip to tip.

Managing editors are brave men. They will tackle anything once. Perhaps that's why Olin Kennedy, managing editor of a Miami paper and well known in newspaper circles in Indianapolis, Cleveland and Washington, has volunteered to serve as sergeant-at-arms at the Democratic convention.

Any man who will undertake to keep order in that gathering, when the McAdoo and Underwood clans begin to exchange shots, will certainly need his nerve with him.

Representative Henry P. Rainey of Carrollton, Ill., makes money at farming. But not from wheat, or from corn and hogs. Rainey's profits as a farmer come from his deer and his goldfish!

FISHIN'

(BY HAL COCHRAN)

The touch of the season is plenty of reason why people should ponder and dream. And everyone's wishin' that they could go fishin' and loaf by the side of a stream.

The bamboo is callin', we'll all soon be fallin', our lines will be knotted and strung. Desires everlasting to be out a-casting are sli-slied when fish lines are flung.

The whirr of a reel makes a fisherman feel that the call of the open and wild is taking him back to the days when the knock of casting was his, as a child.

To sit on a dock or a moss-covered rock and wait for the bobber to beckon is what makes the dream, as you sit by a stream, the real call of nature, I reckon.

Your luck is a chance, sir, but people will answer the call 'cause they can't help but heed. It's sport just to tinker with hook, line and sinker and that's all you actually need.

THE CARBOHYDRATE GORGÉ

Carbohydrates, as we all know, are mighty good to eat, too good for the ordinary individual to resist, in fact. That makes it so very, very easy to drift into the habit of over indulgence in such foods. Besides having this fatal attractiveness to the palate, the carbohydrates have another attribute—we had better not call it a virtue—namely, their quick digestibility as compared with proteins and fats. Bread, the cereals, starchily items, sugars, candy or sweets generally, remain in the stomach only a short time, fats and meats remain longer in the stomach; the carbohydrates, therefore, do not "stay by" us as the fats and meats do, and so, when one gorges on carbohydrates, the sense of hunger returns sooner, and hence it is easier to overeat.

If one were doing hard open air work, or climbing mountains, or playing ball, or even walking a few miles a day, there would be little objection to this great consumption of starches and sugars, for the carbohydrates are the best of fuel for muscular energy. For the normal young boy or girl there is no physiological objection to the consumption of an amount of carbohydrate food which father or mother could scarcely get away with, because the youngster engages in sufficient physical activity to utilize the fuel. But for adults of sedentary habit the carbohydrate gorge is deadly. Diabetes is only one of the evil consequences of this abnormal combination of overeating and under exercise; Bright's disease, apoplexy, heart failure, high blood pressure, dropsy, hot flashes, nervous breakdown—enough, enough, and even now some one is sure to imagine I have "hit his case."

There is something besides the mere nutritive effect which we derive from a carbohydrate gorge—assuming the old digestion still

MRS. STEINER TO HONOR VISITOR

Mrs. Oliver Steiner will receive more than seventy-five friends at her home, 926 W. Market-st., Thursday afternoon, for tea, honoring Mrs. Gideon Steiner of New Orleans, who is her house-guest. Receiving with Mrs. Steiner and her guest will be Mrs. Henry Page and his son of Circleville, who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Seward Folsom.

A buffet tea will be served in the dining room. A platter basket of yellow jonquils and tulips will center the table and crystal candle sticks, holding yellow candles, will also be used. Assisting in the dining room will be Mrs. Frank Steiner, Mrs. Harry O. Bentley, Mrs. M. M. Scatts, Mrs. Frank Moke, Mrs. Benjamin Thomas, Mrs. Leonard Schnabel, Mrs. A. H. Crops and Mrs. F. C. Beam.

Out-of-town guests at the affair will be Mrs. William Gough of London, Miss Nell Ryan of Ft. Thomas, Ontario, the guests of Mrs. J. B. Polling and Mrs. Henry P. Folsom of Circleville.

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

Dear Miss Smart:
I am a girl 16 years of age and am as attractive as the average girl, yet I am not invited to parties and other affairs, get many dances and can hold a conversation with most anyone. The men seem to like me and to be around me, but they never ask to keep company. Can you see a way for me to remedy this?

I know a man 19 years old whom I like very much. He pays a lot of attention to me, does not invite me to any parties, never takes me to lunch. I don't know why he doesn't keep company with me. I know that he cares for no other girl. Can you help me in some way that I can go with him? —LONELY.

You're a little young to be seeking steady "company," aren't you. Lonely? From your letter, you must have very enjoyable times with the other younger people. There are not many girls your age that receive many invitations and get as many dances as you do. I really don't think you have cause to worry. Why not spend your time developing a pleasing personality, an amiable disposition and attractive appearance instead of feeling badly because you don't have frequent bids for "dates."

This 19 year old young man may think that he is a little too old to have "dates" with you and that when you are older he can ask you to go out more. He no doubt cares for you and admires you, or he wouldn't be as nice and courteous to you when you are together. These dances you speak of. Lonely, they aren't public ones, are they? Surely you don't go there without being taken up by a boy friend. Don't get into the habit of going to public dances. The boys don't admire girls who do.

As I suggested before, keep an attractive appearance and pleasing personality and disposition at all times and you never will be without friends.

Dear Aunt Susie:
"Tim, Tim, now I come in?" I thought. I would stop for some of your advice. Do you think the dresses will be worn long this summer as they were this winter?

That is leap year and they told me the girls were to ask the boys to go places. What do you think a boy would think of a girl if she would ask him to go some place?

Do you think black satin slippers will be worn much this summer? Do you think powder and rouge spots the face?

What do you think would be a good nick-name for me?

What do you think of my writing? How old should you be to enter high school? Do you think I am silly for asking you these questions? —Nell

Do you think there is any harm in dancing? Is waltzing the latest?

"TEETIE."

No, the summer dresses are not as long as the winter ones. The average length for spring and summer dresses is 12 to 14 inches from the floor.

I can't imagine a boy refusing an invitation from an attractive girl, can you? I really don't think a young man would mind a bit if he received a "bid" for a party or dance from a girl. Why don't you give up a leap year party, and you and a bunch of the girls have a dancing party and let the girls make out the programs. The parties like this are always fun.

Yes, black satin slippers are very good at this time. The combinations of black suede with the satin or patent leather with the satin are good. Heels are both medium, Spanish and French heels. Ne, the standard makes of powder and rouge do not spoil one's complexion. But surely a young girl does not need rouge. It is only the older girls and women who no longer have a lovely natural complexion or the "blown of youth" who need to use rouge.

Altho I can't say I am particularly fond of your present nickname, it is rather hard to suggest any for you. Couldn't you get a nick-name from your real name?

Your writing is good but your letter looks a bit "un-bushy," doesn't it? Can't you make your lines straight across the paper? Fifteen is the usual age for high school freshmen. No, indeed, I enjoyed your letter and hope you will write again. No, I don't think there is any harm in proper dancing. Altho the "waltz" is not so very popular around here at this time, word from the East is that it is the very latest dance step. The music is much slower than in the past and Eastern people are "waltzing" more than ever.

Dear Miss Smart:
If a girl friend of yours moved to a western state and after several months there married a young man who you didn't know and she wrote and asked you about it, what would be the proper way of congratulation when you wrote to her again? We are not bosom friends just acquaintances.

PEGGY.
If you do not feel that you know her well enough or are good enough friends to send a wedding present, simply say that you are delighted to hear of her happiness and wish her contentment and prosperity for all her life.

HIS BROTHER'S WIFE

by RUDY AYRES
CRIA SERVICE

READ MORE TODAY

Dolly, a governess, marries Nigel Bretherton for his money. The marriage proves an unhappy one. When war is declared, Nigel is glad to enlist. He leaves Dolly in the care of Mary Furnival.

With word comes that Nigel has been killed. Dolly marries an old suitor named Robert David, who then reveals that he is Nigel's older brother. David, only to see Mary's widow. He mistakes Mary for Dolly.

Mary is ashamed to tell of Dolly's marriage. An old friend named Fisher shows David a picture of Nigel's wife and David sees that it is not a picture of the girl he takes for Nigel's widow. A letter comes to Mary from Dolly, written en route to America.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Write to me if you can; I will send you an address as soon as we land. 'We have had glorious weather so far, and I haven't been ill at all. I am so glad, as a seasick bride must be too awful, mustn't it? Robert is quite well off, you know, and gives me heaps of money. It is such a change after having one's income doled out by a stingy brother-in-law. I wonder if the saintly David has turned up at the flat yet, and what he said when you told him?"

"Mary, mind you tell me everything that happens, and what you are going to do. I said in my letter I left for you that you might sell the things and keep the money, and I still hope that you will. You were very kind to me, and I don't like to think I have treated you badly."

"Mary, you ought to have married Nigel instead of me. You would have adored him, I know. Robert sends his love to you, and hopes to meet you some day. Perhaps you might come out here to stay with us for a little while. Would you like that?"

"We are going to live in an hotel to start with; houses are so frighteningly dear, and anyway, I hate housekeeping, and having to look after servants!"

"What a lot of things have happened in these last few months! I am glad to say that on the boat we don't hear much about the awful war; people seem to be trying to forget it. There are some Americans who sit next to us at table. They have taken a great fancy to me. Robert gets quite jealous, poor darling."

Mary threw the letter down with a little shudder. She could not believe that it was indeed Dolly who had written it—Dolly, whom Nigel had loved so much. How cruel life was, how horribly cruel and unfair!

She could not touch her breakfast. She wandered restlessly about the little flat, unable to settle to anything.

The door of Nigel's room had been kept locked since he went away. She deliberately turned the key now, and entered.

It still smelt faintly of smoke. It was still littered with his possessions. There was a worn-out pipe on the shelf, and a jar half filled with tobacco. Shabby slippers were kicked carelessly beneath a chair.

Mary sat down on the sofa where she had so often seen him lolling to read and smoke, and looked round the room with mournful eyes. So full of his presence the room was still, and yet—he would never come back again. She would never hear his laugh, or his cheery whistle. He was dead, wiped out, and forgotten.

She was so lost in her own sad thoughts that she never heard the door-bell ring or a step on the landing outside—never saw a man, who stood on the threshold hesitating for a moment as if in doubt whether to enter, until he spoke.

"May I come in?" She started up with a little smothered cry. David Bretherton stood there. She went to meet him agitatedly.

"I am so sorry—I did not hear you—I was dreaming—"

He came into the room, and stood looking round him.

"This was Nigel's room?"

"Yes." His grave eyes swept her face, and a sudden kindness filled them. "You must not stay on in this flat," he said. "It is killing work living alone with memories."

She looked at him, trying to smile.

"I am only staying till things can be arranged. I don't want to live here; I couldn't afford to, even if I did."

A curious expression flashed across his face. Was this her way of leading up to the thing he had been expecting? he wondered, and was ashamed of the thought even as it was born.

She looked so unlike an adventuress. It was impossible, when one saw the pallor and grief of her face, to believe that she was exploiting a dead man's memory for her own gain.

CHAPTER XIV

David's Offer

He walked over to the window, and stood with his back turned to her. Standing so, he asked a question.

"In the letter you gave me yesterday—my brother's letter—he speaks of a friend of his, a Miss Furnival."

No answer. Mary clasped her hands. She looked at his averted face with wondering eyes. Almost it was the tip of her tongue to say:

"I am Mary Furnival. You knew that, didn't you? Surely you knew that?"

He went on speaking before the words were formed.

"Nigel seems to have thought a great deal of her. He speaks of her as his best friend. I should like to meet her, to thank her for what she did for him, and—and his wife."

And now he turned, looked at her across the room steadily.

For a moment Mary could not speak. In that lightning pause her mind seemed to have covered miles and miles of thought. Her agitation fell from her. She felt as if she were looking down on a written suggestion planned by a masterly hand down to its minutest detail.

Here was a way to save a dead man's memory, and shield his name. Unconsciously David Bretherton had shown her now. He asked for Mary Furnival! What easier than to say that she had married, and was even now on her way to America, whilst she—she—

She allowed herself to travel no further down that line of thought. She began to speak slowly and collectedly, meeting his eyes fairly and squarely.

"She is married. Mary Furnival was married just a week ago. She is on her way to America now with her husband."

Bretherton was standing with his back to the light, and she could not see the flickering amazement of his eyes. When he spoke his voice was quiet and very courteous.

"Is that so? I am sorry. I should have liked to thank her. Perhaps when you write you will do so for me?"

She did not answer. Her heart was beating fast. All at once she was afraid of what she had said and done.

He went on: "I came here this morning because I wanted to see you before I go home—to the Red Grange. I wanted to ask if you would care to come down there, to live down there."

Mary stared at him. "I! To live there!"

For a moment she forgot that she had allowed him to think that she was Dolly; for the moment she could only remember the beautiful old house as she had seen it that once with Nigel—the ivy-covered walls, the sloping lawns. A faint color tinged her pallor. Her eyes flashed.

"Oh, I should love it—love it!"

She breathed, then stopped.

What right had she there? Why was he making her this offer?

David continued evenly. "If Nigel had lived, it would eventually have been your home. I am sure it would please him to know that you are there, even tho' he is gone."

The color had died from Mary's face. AND NOW HE TURNED AND SHE WAS WHITE ENOUGH NOW. LOOKED AT HER STEADILY. She stammered as she tried to speak. "You mean that I—because I—because he—"

She could not go on.

He answered her simply and unfalteringly:

"I mean that, because you loved him, it will give me great happiness if you will come."

CHAPTER XV

David's Offer

"Because I loved him!" Mary echoed David Bretherton's words faintly. For a moment she looked past him, away into a distance that was landmarks by four years of faithful friendship, ending in a lonely grave.

"Don't answer me at once," David went on. "Think it over. You are lonely, and there is plenty of room down at the Red Grange. My aunt lives with me—possibly you know that—and I think you would like her. I hope you will agree to do this. I want to show in some small way my appreciation of your kindness to Nigel, and I think to take you there—to his home—"

He stopped, as if waiting for her to speak.

There was a curious look of baffled interest in his eyes. This woman was a conundrum to him. Apparently she had no wish of trying to get money out of him, and yet what was it that kept her from frankly avowing that she was not his brother's wife?

All his life women had been of small interest to David, but this one was somehow different.

He moved to the door, pausing for a moment to look back at her and the little room, still so full of his brother's memory.

"Write to me when you have made up your mind," he said. "You know my address. I am going down to the Red Grange this afternoon."

Mary made a little, involuntary movement. Words trembled on the tip of her tongue—words which would once and for all have made matters clear between them, words that would once and for all have settled the question as to whether she should accept his offer or not.

She had only to say: "You are mistaken; I am not Nigel's wife. I am Mary Furnival!" and her chance of going back to the Red Grange would be gone for ever.

She thought of its beauties with a very real heartache.

THE TANGLE

An Intimate Story of Intense Emotions Revealed in Private Letters

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO LESLIE PRESCOTT, CARE OF THE SECRET DRAWER CONTINUED

It was with mixed emotions that I drove home. I was not quite sure little Marquise, just where I was wrong in my estimate of what was a wife, and where Sally was right.

Of course I knew that Sally Atherton cared very little for Sam. I knew that she had come to work for Jack because she wanted to get away from him. Yet it seemed to me that something out of the years they had spent together would be hers still. It seemed to me that if my employer had not mentioned the great trouble—for even if it were not a great grief, it must have been a great trouble—that I had passed thru, I would have felt that he was lacking in sympathy.

I don't believe I'd ever make a business woman, I said to myself. I don't believe I have enough of the masculine turn of mind. Little things mean so much to me. I dream and raise beautiful pictures, and then the hurt of it all when they crumble before reality!

Ever since I got that beautiful letter from Jack, little Marquise, have been thinking of him. I presume, as something not quite human, I longed for him. I wanted his arms about me. I wanted the kisses he spoke about to close my eyes that I might keep within their lowered lids the happiness that threatened to overflow.

That letter, little Marquise, was one of the very infrequent thrills that I have received lately. I think that had I not received it, I should not have gone to the train in answer to the suggestion of that wire. But having received it, of course I expected to find not a man but a lover; and really, little Marquise, you who have had a great lover know that there is a wonderful difference.

It is very hard, after you have been living in the ethereal clouds of emotion, to come back to earth with a thud. I don't quite understand how men can do it. They seem to like parachute drops, and they gallantly smile, even if they reach terra firma with a bump, and run away to their every-day affairs seemingly to think that if they wish it, they can make another balloon ascension into the rare emotional ether.

Perhaps that's where we women make a mistake. We enshrine Eros as our household god, and we try to pay daily worship to him, altho' all sorts of other duties intervene. Consequently we neither do what is right by love or by the other things which are necessary in our daily life.

Men, on the other hand, have a distinct idea of what shall come first, and then they graduate the importance of their duties way down along the line. Of course we women think that with them as with us, love should come first, but instead, knowing the necessities of material things, men put ambition and power first—ambition to make a success, and success always includes power.

Sometimes I think that power is the dominant desire of all masculinity. Man wants to be all powerful, even in his love. A man wants to make all those who contact with him to do so in his own way. There is the clash and battle of life.

All the joy had been taken out of Jack's homecoming for me by his nervous annoyance when he first saw me. Perhaps I'm just a silly woman, but if Jack had met me with that tender smile and speech at the train that he made to me as he jumped hurriedly from the car at his office the whole complexion of my day would have been changed. I would have driven him to the office with a happiness-filled heart that would have sung until I met him again.

I expect I ought to be happy anyway, for altho' the tenderness came late it was there. "Take the good gods provide" is pretty good advice, isn't it?

Isn't this enough of my reactions for this time. Little Marquise? Any way, I think I will close.

LESLIE.

BANCROFT WON FIFTEEN INNING GAME FOR BRAVES

NEW YORK — (Associated Press) — Manager Dave Bancroft of the Braves drove in the run which gave his team a 3 to 2, fifteen inning victory over Philadelphia at Boston yesterday.

Couch, going the route for the Phillies, weakened in the fifteenth and Boston broke up the game before a man was retired.

After the Yankees had raised their 1923 pennant in New York, Babe Ruth emerged from his coma and presented his entire repertoire for the American League opening day crowd of 48,000. Besides hitting a single and double to left field, Ruth lifted his second home run of the year into his favorite right field bleachers. The world's champions won 13 to 4.

Grantham made his third home run of the season in Chicago's 12 to 1 victory over St. Louis in the National League and tied Rogers Hornsby of the Cardinals for major league home run honors.

Cleveland won from league-leading Detroit, 6 to 5, in a stirring teninning battle.

Hausler's home run, mixed in a flurry of binkies in the seventh inning, helped the Athletics to a 6 to 4 victory over Washington at Philadelphia. The Browns broke their losing streak by winning by the White Sox 9 to 5, in a free hitting game at St. Louis.

New York and Brooklyn and Pittsburgh and Cincinnati in the National League were not scheduled.

BOSTON — Shuey, O'Neill, Stryker and Bancroft in the lead, the fifteenth, with none out, scored the run which gave Boston a 3 to 2 victory over Philadelphia in the opening game of the National League season.

Central High Will Build New Plant

Plans for a modern high school athletic plant have been practically completed by Central high authorities, according to an announcement made yesterday by E. A. Hauenstein, faculty manager of athletics.

Extensive repairs have been started on College field, where all home Central games are played. The tennis courts at the east end of the field have been torn out and the lines will be moved east ten yards, it is said.

A wooden stadium which will seat approximately 6,000 fans will be built around the field this summer, Hauenstein said. Eventually it is planned to install a running track with 100 yards straightaway.

A field house for the benefit of players may be built also in the new building program, Hauenstein further stated.

Class captains for the inter-class track meet to be held for Central high students Saturday afternoon at the Driving Park were named Wednesday. Bob King will lead the Seniors, Bill Stanver, the Juniors, Tomie Herbst, the Sophomores, and Tommy Jones, the Freshmen. Regular list of events will be run off. It is expected that over half of the school's student body will be in the stands for the annual inter-class struggle.

Organization of the Central Pirates early this week will mean one of the fastest junior organizations in the state according to Manager Thelbert. A capable team of ball players has been gathered and Thelbert will lead his men in the initial workouts Saturday morning at Faurot Park.

Thelbert will have Sillin doing the receiving work. The pitching staff consists of Bayh and Michael Crawford, Dean Boose and Cohn will have infield positions while Horvick, McDonald and Herbst will play the field.

Games with St. Johns and St. Rose of Lima as well as teams from neighboring towns are under consideration. Any team that would like to get on the schedule of the Pirates is requested to get in touch with Franklyn Doan at High 7186.

ZEV TO BEGIN RACING AT PAUMONOK

NEW YORK — (Associated Press) — Philip Smith American heavyweight has accepted terms for a contest against Harry Wills, colored challenger, for the championship. Tea Hartman said here today.

Hartman did not give any details about the date or the place that he had in mind for the bout. The promoter said that Wills had signed a contract to receive $1,000 a month to train to appear in two or three contests and that Lupo would be one of his opponents.

Rickard's representative, Jean Hems, is from South America and it is understood that he succeeded in getting Lupo to sign for the match.

BOSTON—Jack Malone, St. Paul middleweight, won a round decision in weight, with a round decision.

NEW YORK—Floyd Johnson, low heavyweight, has been signed by the New York City Heavyweight "Tommy" in the closing indoor show in Madison Square Garden. Paul Bilezikian, New York middleweight, will work in the semi-final.

Zev To Begin Racing At Paumonok

NEW YORK — Zev, thoroed champion of 1923 and greatest money winner of all time is expected to make his debut as a four year old next week in the Paumonok handicap feature of the opening day of Metropolitan racing at Jamaica track.

The Rancoros stable star opened his brilliant campaign last year by triumphing in the Paumonok. From that race Zev won triumphs spectacularly in the Kentucky derby, the international match with Papirus and to divide honors with In Memoriam, Great Kentucky colt, in two special races. Zev's record winning now stands at $26,672 and the colt's campaign this year, including three prospective races for rich purses against Epsilon, French crack, in the fall, promises to add substantially to this amount.

Two Kentucky derby favorites, the unbeaten Sarazon and Saint James also may be seen under colors for the first time this year in the chief Paumonok.

DETROIT — "Rip" Wheeler, Cuban pitcher, was married yesterday to Miss Roberta Moore, childhood sweetheart, from Marion, Ky.

BUFFALO RAISING
KETCHIKAN, Alaska — Veterans from the Yukon territory who moved into the Ketchikan district recently were optimistic about the importation of 24 buffaloes from Oldham Park, Alberta, to a new preserve in central Yukon.

They predicted that within a few years the raising of these buffaloes would be as profitable to the Yukon as the timber industry has become to northern Alaska.

MARRIED TWELVE YEARS BEFORE BABY CAME

Gladly Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Louisville, Nebraska—"I was married twelve years before my boy was born. I had a lot of female troubles and had been treated by physicians for them but they could not touch the cause. Then I read your advertisement in the newspaper and thought you might give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a good trial. If it had helped others, why not me? I have taken 20 bottles of the medicine and am never without it in the house. My baby boy is three years old now, and I am happy since I got relief from my trouble. When any one has trouble like mine, or any ways like mine, I am always glad to recommend the Vegetable Compound so that they will get the right kind of medicine." — Mrs. Joe Novak, Box 602, Louisville, Neb.

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound 98 out of every 100 report they were benefited by its use for sale by druggists everywhere.
